

David J. Hughes is a composer, organist, and conductor whose work is shaped by a fascination with the role of plainchant in the sacred liturgy. He is Organist & Choirmaster at St. Mary Church in Norwalk, Connecticut, where he directs the professional St. Mary's Schola Cantorum for a weekly Solemn Mass in the Extraordinary Form of the Roman Rite (Missal of 1962), the volunteer St. Mary's Choir for the Mass according to the Roman Missal of 2002, and several other ensembles. He oversees the Student Schola, a comprehensive program of musical education for children, as well as serving on the faculty of Regina Pacis and Cardinal Newman Academies in Norwalk. He founded and directed for a number of years the Sleepy Hollow Schola Cantorum, which sings for the Latin Mass in Sleepy Hollow, New York. In demand as an instructor of Gregorian chant, he has workshops, clinics, and recitals scheduled this season throughout the U.S. Mr. Hughes is a member of the board of the Church Music Association of America, and serves as a chant instructor and the director of new music at the CMAA's annual Summer Music Colloquium. He is director of music for the Roman Forum Summer Symposium at Gardone Riviera, Italy. Mr. Hughes' composition teachers have included Ruth Schonthal and John Halle, and he has studied organ with Paul Jacobs and Daniel Sullivan. A native of Stamford, Connecticut, Mr. Hughes is a graduate of Yale College.
